www.benecino.com illustratrice@benecino.com I was born in Cuneo where I have attended the Artistic High School and I started working at a printing press learning the different steps of a book making, from the design, going through printing till rebinding. Since 1998, I have been living in Milan where I worked in a marketing agency and after in a publishing house for IT magazines but keeping on drawing in my free time for publishing houses and advertising agencies. I taught for three years the course ? Editorial project for children books? at Comics School in Milan and I worked with some publishing houses for designing children and kids book series. Since 2007 I have been working as free lance graphic and illustrator.
