e-mail:simone.macalli@gmail.com I am an illustrator and cartoonist, I studied Advertising Graphics, therefore the study of logos, brochures and layout of any advertising campaigns. My greatest passion is drawing and working with art, I would like to illustrate books for teenagers and children.

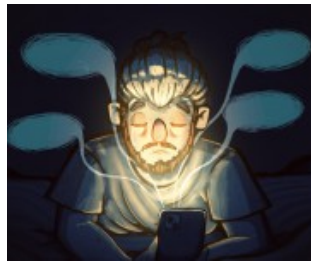

The grid consists of nine comic panels, each depicting a different scenario related to digital technology and human interaction:

- Top Left: A person is shown falling into a purple, swirling vortex. A speech bubble says, "Sometimes I wish to fall." Below, a person is submerged in water, with a speech bubble saying, "Deeper and deeper inside."
- Top Middle: A person is lying in bed, looking at a smartphone. A speech bubble says, "I'm always looking at my phone." Below, a person is standing in a room, looking at a smartphone. A speech bubble says, "I'm always looking at my phone." Below that, a person is standing in a room, looking at a smartphone. A speech bubble says, "I'm always looking at my phone."
- Top Right: A person is sitting at a desk, looking at a smartphone. A speech bubble says, "I'm always looking at my phone." Below, a person is sitting at a desk, looking at a smartphone. A speech bubble says, "I'm always looking at my phone." Below that, a person is sitting at a desk, looking at a smartphone. A speech bubble says, "I'm always looking at my phone."
